

Correction: Exploring the Beliefs and Practices of Preschool Teachers in Engineering-Based STEM Education

İsmail Dönmez¹

Published online: 25 March 2026
© Ontario Institute for Studies in Education (OISE) 2026

Correction: Canadian Journal of Science, Mathematics and Technology Education (2026) 26:35
<https://doi.org/10.1007/s42330-026-00462-9>

In the original online version of this article, there was blinded information in the Ethical Standards section. The complete text is as follows:

Voluntary participation and the confidentiality of the participants were prioritised in this study. The teachers were provided with detailed information about the purpose of the study, the process, and the use of data, and an informed consent form was signed by each participant. Prior to the interviews, it was clearly stated that the audio and video recordings would be used solely for academic research purposes and that participants' names and personal information would not be included in any reports. The confidentiality of the participants' personal information was ensured. The video and audio recordings were stored in an encrypted digital environment accessible only to the researchers and they were not shared with any third parties. All findings are reported in a way that does not reveal individual identities. Ethical approval was granted by the Ethics Committee of Muş Alparslan University on 35254 with decision number 49/1. Permission to conduct the research was also obtained from the Turkish Ministry of National Education.

The original article was corrected.

Publisher's Note Springer Nature remains neutral with regard to jurisdictional claims in published maps and institutional affiliations.

The original article can be found online at <https://doi.org/10.1007/s42330-026-00462-9>.

✉ İsmail Dönmez
i.donmez@alparslan.edu.tr

¹ Child Development Department, Mus Alparslan University, Mus, Turkey